HVAC/REFRIGERATION TOOL SETS TARGET TECHNICIANS, TRADE SCHOOL STUDENTS, APPRENTICESHIP PROGRAMS

LAS VEGAS, NV (June 25, 2008) – Providing an economical source for basic HVAC tools and meters, Knight Educational Products has developed a series of individual products and tool sets for students in HVAC/Refrigeration apprenticeships or training programs, as well as field service technicians. Knight Educational Products is a global manufacturer and supplier of educational training equipment.

“Students enrolled in HVAC and Refrigeration apprentice programs or trade schools, and beginning technicians need a dependable source for inexpensive, good quality tools, test meters, HVAC equipment, and manifold gauges,” said David Luna, Vice President of Sales and Marketing for Knight Educational Products. “We’re able to offer a wide selection of these tools, individually or in kits, for professional and student use.”

The Knight HVAC tools and kits are purchased by trade schools, HVAC/R apprentice programs, and companies with field service technicians and HVAC repair professionals, Luna said. Knight will also provide custom tool kits for specialized professional applications, including the addition of a company or school logo to any tool kit order.
